MY ACTIVITIES FOR THE TTTdM

I joined Think Tank Trinità dei Monti as a Young Think Tanker in July 2019. I am part of the Editorial Team, for which I write and review articles on a monthly basis. My past articles have mainly focused on gender and conflict. I also collaborate with the Press Office on establishing relationships with foreign and national press agencies.

STUDIES

I am currently pursuing a postgraduate degree in International Relations Theory at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE). My studies focus on conflict and peacebuilding, gender and human rights, development and humanitarian action. I hold a First Class Honours BA degree in Liberal Arts with a Year Abroad from the School of Politics and International Relations of the University of Kent. As part of my BA, I studied for one year at the Facultad de Derecho of the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid. My undergraduate dissertation consisted in a causal historical comparative analysis of Arab Spring outcomes for women's rights in Tunisia and Egypt.

WORK EXPERIENCE

In 2019, I worked as a summer intern for the European Economic and Social Committee (EESC) in the Unit for Interinstitutional Relations, in Brussels, Belgium. In 2018, I worked as a summer intern for the El Salvador Embassy to Italy, in Rome. Thanks to these internships, I have good skills in terms of writing background material, drafting reports, doing research and carrying out administrative and archiving work.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

At LSE, I am a member of the International Relations Department's society 'The Grimshaw Club'; Amnesty International society; the United Nations society and the International Development society. At the University of Kent, I was the Research and Events Vice President for the Current Affairs Society and a Global Officer of the Leadership Development programme, for which I worked on matters of internationalisation at the University. I also volunteered in the Buddy Programme, for which I was in charge of new students' orientation.
